suspend the partition mount in position between the pole and the abutting surface as recited in all the independent claims and having particularly pole interface with non-skid material and head interface with a retaining mechanism as recited in claims 1 and 25, or or having particularly an elongated head with a pad of non-skid material or compressible material or elongated pad as recited respectively in claims 47 and 58, 48 and 59, 49 and 60, or having particularly a head interface comprising a clamp that couples the mount body to the elongated head that provides a point of contact with the abutting surface as recited in claims 50 and 61, or having particularly a wall interface coupled to the mount body wherein the wall interface comprises non-skid material on an external outer surface of the mount body as recited in claim 55, or having particularly an elongated head integral with and coupled to the mount body and extending in the transverse direction relative to the mount body over a length that is greater than the thickness of the mount body as recited in claims 62 and 78, or having particularly C-shaped first arm and L-shaped second arm and wall interface of non-skid material as recited in claim 65, or having particularly a head interface with a clamp coupled to a head having a pad as recited in claims 67 and 72, or having particularly
